

BIO

Tammy Boyce

Tammy Boyce was born in Subiaco, Western Australia. She was raised in a rural Western Australia, from a large family, predominantly female in which she draws a heavy influence in her art practices.

Currently residing in Melbourne she completed an Advanced Diploma in photography at Photography Studies College.

Her art practice explores the connection to the sub-conscious, dreams, memory, loss and the empowerment of women.

As a mother she is impacted by the female psyche and the strong significance of imagination in childhood and the importance of connection to the Australian landscape.

Tammy has been a finalist in the Bowness Photography prize and the Josephine Ulrick and Win Schubert Photography Award, both prestigious awards within Australia. Her work has been exhibited in Australia as well as New Zealand and Spain.

Most recently she was published in Loud and Luminous 2019, A Celebration of 100 Female Australian Photographers.
