

Carolyn Roberts studied at Monash University and completed an MFA (research) in 2007.

Originally from the UK, she now divides her time between Melbourne and rural Normandy, which influences and defines her work.

Carolyn began her professional art career as a ceramist but in recent years has returned to her first love of drawing and watercolour.

She has had numerous solo and group exhibitions, and won various awards. Her work is represented in public and private collections.