anna bridget

handcrafted jewellery

Fascinated by the mysteries of the natural world, Anna Bridget Murphy is a jewellery designer, and environmental craftivist with a studio in the Kinglake Ranges, 55kms out of Melbourne. After completing a diploma and Advanced diploma of jewellery and object design has realised her creative purpose and vocation to be a voice for this planet and all of its inhabitants.

Using semi-precious and precious gem stones and precious metals anna bridget creates contemporary wearable art that is unique, individual and quirky, honouring a natural environment we cannot live without. Each piece reveals the wearer's own identity, harmonising their humanity with the earth's essence. Materials are sustainably sourced and certified, and manufacturing processes utilise low energy sustainable methods wherever possible.
