Artist Statement

Eclectic and diverse, Sarah at Marby Road Art likes to dabble in a multitude of styles and mediums. Having a background in graphic design, albeit not practicing, provides an eye for detail, elements of precision and certainly has assisted with a range of design processes. An emerging visual artist (and amateur poet) still in the initial transition phase after a long and successful career in the military set out this year to find her niche. But discovered that experimentation and variety, rather than imposing limitations are what matter. Never afraid to use a strong and bold colour palette and flitting between digital mediums, traditional and contemporary styles, it is anyone's guess as to 'what next?'
